Dear Friends of University of Maryland,

One Day University and the University of Maryland Office of Professional Studies are delighted to tell you about a brand new program. You are invited to join four award winning professors from the country's top tier schools, teaching their most acclaimed classes. One Day University debuts on March 29th, 2008. For future events featuring new and stimulating topics mark your calendars for the following dates in 2008: May 4th - June 22nd - September 20th - November 8th - December 13th.

Explore new topics the way you did in college, but without homework assignments or final exams. Our single purpose is simple: Personal Enrichment. Rediscover the joys of exercising your brain.
